Supporting District and Inter-group in Alcoholics Anonymous (AA) is crucial for the fellowship's primary purpose: carrying the message of recovery to those who still suffer.

These entities provide local services, connect groups, and ensure A.A.'s unity and growth.

12 STEPS AND 12 TRADITIONS

Step 9: "Made direct amends to such people wherever possible, except when to do so would injure them or others."

This step is a continuation of the process of personal responsibility and healing that begins earlier in the program, particularly with Steps 4 through 7. In Step 9, alcoholics actively reach out to those they have harmed due to their alcoholism, acknowledging their wrongs and making restitution where appropriate. This step requires courage, humility, and judgment to ensure that making amends does not cause additional harm. Step 9 is vital for the emotional and spiritual growth of the alcoholic. By acknowledging the past and making things right, alcoholics often experience a deep sense of relief and freedom from guilt and shame. Step 9 helps restore integrity and rebuild trust, both in personal relationships and in oneself.

Tradition 9: "A.A., as such, ought never be organized; but we may create service boards or committees directly responsible to those they serve."

This tradition emphasizes that while A.A. itself avoids formal organization to preserve its spirit of equality and unity, it recognizes the need for some structure to carry out practical functions. These service entities, such as committees or central offices, are created to support the groups but are not meant to govern them. Their purpose is to facilitate the mission of A.A.—helping alcoholics—while remaining accountable to the fellowship as a whole, not exercising authority over it.
